Via Insight Training Program - autumn/ winter 2011 -12

Via Career Coaching believes in the benefits of work engagement. Just take a look at Via's training program - supporting your organisation in creating career development and fulfilment. Our workshops include both theory and interaction, encouraging the process of co-creation.

Via Career Trainings can be customised or combined into a training series to suit your requirements.

What are you good at?

Which moments did you experience so much enjoyment that you lost track of time? In this training we take a closer look at those experiences of flow. We discover your core competencies, skills that come naturally to you. This input supports you in steering your career in a fitting direction.

How to make career choices that fit you?

Whilst making career choices several aspects can play a role. Think about elements such as discovering what suits you, finding a good work life balance and possibly having to let go of securities. Using different insight tools we look at the way you make decisions and apply this to making appropriate personal choices in the future.

Find fulfilment in your career

In the current economic climate, finding job fulfilment may encompass more than just a having big salary. Do you recognise the feeling that 'something is missing'? Based on inspiration by philosophers and other thinkers we look at your work and place it into a bigger context. We ask ourselves the question: 'why do you work?' What do you need to experience fulfilment in your career?

Does the above sound like music to your ears?
Via looks forward to telling you more and sending you a tailor made proposal. Just get in touch.
